

The Lincoln-Douglas debates. Standing behind Lincoln, the speaker, is Stephen A. Douglas, his rival in the 1858 campaign for the U.S. Senate. Douglas won the election.

The Gettysburg Address, a painting by Fletcher C. Ransom. The speech was so short, no photograph could be taken. A photographer was there with the unwieldy equipment of the time. Before he could get ready, Lincoln had finished and returned to his seat.